

Editorial: In the US and Canada, the founders always feared a Trump

In an editorial special for The Globe and Mail, our Research Fellow, Eric M Adams, discusses the unprecedented American presidential campaign and how the US and Canadian constitutional systems differ in preparing for the rise of Trump-like figures.

Read Eric Adams' Editorial here